Foreword

May you, our Blotter, reach our hearts and create there a warm feeling for our Alma Mater, and may you serve to recall to us pleasant and happy days of our past.

Dedication

To Miss Elizabeth Currie

To one who has given up so much of her time for the interests of the school; who has been our friend and helper outside of the classroom as well as in; and who, by her ability and her charm, has won our respect and admiration, we lovingly dedicate this book.

In Memoriam

Samuel Reufing

History of Our New School

The site for our new high school was purchased of Mr. Anders Rasmussen for $10,000. It was formerly covered by immense woolen and cotton mills. To get the necessary frontage two lots adjoining were purchased for $7,500 and the adjoining mansion on these lots was removed. This gave the schools a plot of 7½ acres.

To secure the necessary funds for an adequate school building, the School City bonded itself for $250,000, and the Civil City to the extent of $50,000. Citizens and alumni organized the N. A. H. S. Gymnasium Corporation and secured a fund of $75,000 for the gymnasium portion of the proposed building. Credit should be given at this time to those members of the gym committee who worked so faithfully in the bond campaign to get funds for our new play-floor. They are Messrs. J. B. Williamson, Joseph Krementz, Ed. Leaf, Sam Walts, Stanley Warner, and Frank McCulloch.

Finally the building was completed and stood in all its elegant details ready for equipment and furniture. The trustees decided that a thorough equipment should be placed in the new high school. An expenditure of $75,000 brought this about.

Thus our new home has cost $392,500. Our athletic grounds and gym are second to none in the State.

These stand as a monument to the devotion of our fellow citizens to the cause of education and to the splendid co-operation of all organizations and individuals in making this splendid gift to us and our fellow students.

We will occupy it but for a portion of our Senior year, and our memories will cluster most intensely around our former home, but we will feel a proper pride in being the first graduating class of the new high school.

Following are some of the interior and exterior views of our new high school.

Poems

Another Senior Class has gone
Where Destiny will lead them,
But I guess we can get along,
'Cause we don't really need them.
Another Senior Class has gone.

They only cause us more expense
With Senior Blotters. Botheration!
And then they hold us in suspense
Concerning that old dedication.
They only cause us more expense.

And then they tax our brains too much
'Bout P. U. P. S. and T. A. C. K. S. and other things.
Who ever heard of such Queer names, but gosh, we'll know this spring.
And then they tax our brains too much.

But after all is said and done,
It's mighty hard to do wihout 'em.
They're really lots and lots of fun,
And we will often think about 'em,
After all is said and done.

—John E. Lepping.

GOODBYE

The friends we've made in High School,
The many things that bind us,
The teachers we have loved so long,
We now must leave behind us.

We'll hear no more the old school bell
To call us to our classes.
But it will in our mem'ries cling
Though everything else passes.

The door is open for us now,
And verily we regret it.
We'll leave this dear old High School, but
We never shall forget it.

—Nellie Wright.

Oh, Seniors all! I might say to you
All those things you've heard before—
About how you who leave this school
Now stand before life's open door.

I might say, "Your life's stretched ahead,
now;
This is a most important time."
But you've heard all that ere this, I know;
The only difference would be my rime.

I might say, "We're so sorry you're going!"
And, "Oh! how much we'll all miss
you!"
But you've heard this so much that now
You ought to be convinced it's true.

I'd like much to have shown my sorrow
In a way that's different—that's really new,
But all I can think of is, "Seniors, Goodbye—
I know, next year, that we'll miss
you."

—Louise Van Pelt.

Seniors have always left us each year.
We've been sorry to see them go;
But ne'er did we dream when we said
goodbye
It would pull at our heartstrings so.

Years there have been of work and play,
Days filled with sunshine and rain.
We treasure each hour of happiness;
We cherish each pleasure and pain.

Goodby, each comrade and teacher,
Farewell, our school so dear,
May all your days be as happy and bright
As the days that we spent here.

—Jane Potts.

We hope you do not take us wrong
And say, "The Juniors are glad we're gone";
For though it's true we'll fill your place,
Each one of us will miss some face.

—Hamilton Dowell.

In high school and college all over our land
An event of importance is now close at hand.
Each group of students called Juniors last year
Have completed the course 'mid trembling and fear
And as dignified Seniors now approach graduation.
But of all the classes in our great nation,
New Albany High School takes first place.
We've a class we are proud to put in the race.
This class alone can lay claim to Dick Clark
Who is Senior President and lives up to the mark.
The boys organized and called themselves T. A. C. K. S.
And named for their President "Cue Ball Max".
Eleanor Binford, after many downs and ups,
Was chosen to preside o'er the affairs of the P. U. P. S.
They've spent happy years at Sixth Street and Spring
But the School Board did not deny them this thing—
The pleasure of going for a short little while
To our fine new building—the latest in style.
Our gymnasium, the finest in our good Hoosier state
A bunch of these Seniors helped dedicate.
And now as we draw near the last of May,
The exercises of their quitting day
Will be first to be held in the new auditorium—
Such honors don't come to each annual quorum,
But when have we graduated a finer class?
Each manly lad and dainty lass
Will go out to honor old N. A. H. S.,
And live noble lives her memory to bless.
We hope they'll be happy—we know they'll be great—
Goodbye, Senior Class of 1928.

WHOOOOOOOOOO!
E.M. ALDRICH

SENIOR BLOTTER 1926

P. U. P. S.

When the Senior girls organized, on February 24th, they called themselves the P. U. P. S.

Since every dog must have its day, on the following Wednesday, each girl brought another pup to school, and marched out of assembly carrying it, and singing, "O Where, O Where Has My Little Dog Gone?"

The annual hike was a very enjoyable event. About sixty of the girls, with their critic and some of the other teachers, hiked out to Mr. Bert Kenny's cottage on the Old Vincennes Road, on May 10th.

After keeping the under-classmen in suspense for four months, these P. U. P. S. turned out to be

PEPPY, UNUSUAL, PROMISING SENIORS

Executive Board—Eleanor Binford, chairman; Esther Jackson; Mary Ruth Renn; Virginia Collins; Carmen Mertz.

Critic: Miss Wood.

T. A. C. K. S.

Max Kron, President
James Blythe, Vice President
Joe Deem, Secretary-Treasurer
Arthur Gribble, Critic

What could be sharper and more useful than T.A.C.K.S.? When into our new High School we stepped, clankety, clankety went the T.A.C.K.S. We did not have any uniforms; neither d.d we wear badges; but why need we these when we shine so brightly.

Our ma'n purposes for organizing were to promote brightness and sharpness. Thus far every member wears two heel plates fastened to his shoes with three T.A.C.K.S.

Some think we might be The All Checkered Knickerbocker Students.

Taking all cautions kind of slowly we form the loyal band of "The Almighty Collegiate Klan of Seniors."

BOOSTERS

Boosters

Dick Clark, President
Joe Binford, Secretary and Treasurer
Jane Potts, Student Critic
Leota Rusk, Faculty Critic

The Boosters Club which has always stood for good sportsmanship has had a very successful year. All the other clubs of the school entered into the spirit of pep by giving programs in assembly to arouse interest in the games. The membership has greatly outnumbered that of previous years and all members have been faithful in following their team to victory—and defeat. The loyal work of the officers has kept the club together and in good spirits.

Our football team was one of the four undefeated teams in the state; part of this was due to the pep and enthusiasm of the Boosters. Torch light parades on the nights before the games brought everyone from the houses to see what was going on. In this way our games were advertised and highly attended.

A brand new gym to start the basketball season off right! Although our team did not pile up many victories, the business end of the proposition came out victoriously. The Speakers and Wranglers had a stand at the gym and made three hundred dollars, with which they bought the electric scoreboard. The school made history this year by having the sectional and regional tournaments. This will probably not happen again for twenty-five years.

The dedication of our gym was the main event of the school year. The Boosters worked hard the whole week before the dedication game. We went to the business men of the city and asked them to decorate their places of business, and they responded readily to our request. We had programs printed to sell at the game. The students turned out one hundred per cent strong at this game, all displaying red and black, and yelling as only Boosters can yell. Mr. A. L. Trester, Czar of basketball in Indiana, delivered the dedicatory address. He complimented us very highly on our good sportsmanship.

To close our successful year, the school for the first time boosted the baseball and track teams.

The Boosters of 1928 want to thank the alumni for their splendid co-operation and wish the Boosters of coming years the greatest success, always keeping in mind our motto: Good Sportsmanship.

Wrangler Banquet

The Wranglers

Besides making an effort to promote the main purpose of the club, i. e., interest in public speaking, the Wranglers have tried to be useful this year in other ways.

With the assistance of the Speakers, the club conducted the refreshment stand at the basketball games and with the proceeds bought the electric score board for the new gymnasium. Among the assembly programs sponsored by the club were Dr. Murr's address on Lincoln, "School Days" pep rally, a saxophone sextette program, the Wrangler-Speaker Christmas play, and a Wrangler-Speaker debate.

The banquet this year with its setting "In the Air" was one of the most novel and elaborate ever given by the club.

The ideals of the Speaker Club are Love, Loyalty, and Charity. It has striven hard to live up to these ideals this year.

ACTIVITIES

In connection with the Lincoln Memorial Campaign in Indiana, oratorical contests were held throughout the state. Several Speakers entered, but one, Alice Quinn, was more fortunate than the rest. For participating in the contests, she received a medal for herself and a bronze plaque of Lincoln for the school.

On November 24th, at the annual Thanksgiving Day Dinner, the girls fed and entertained two hundred and twenty-five poor children, making it really a day of thanksgiving.

The Speakers accepted the challenge of the Wranglers for an assembly debate, on December 8th, the resolution being, "that women are inferior to men." The Speakers, of course, chose the negative side. Both teams debated so well that the judges were unable to reach a decision, so voted it a tie.

Time turned backward in its flight and the Speakers romped and frolicked through a "kid party" at the home of Esther Jackson, on December 21st.

On the last day of school before Christmas holidays, the Speakers and Wranglers gave a play in assembly entitled, "The Van Dorns' Merry Christmas." After the play inexpensive gifts from the tree, were distributed to prominent members of each class.

Our new high school was nearing completion and we were anxious to do something for it. We gladly joined the Wranglers and started working to purchase an electric score-board, costing $297.50, for our new "gym". The two clubs accomplished this by selling refreshments at the Sectional and Regional Tournaments, and all other games. Everyone worked hard, and by the end of the basketball season, the scoreboard was our very own.

We were ready to move; the new high school in all its glory was waiting for us. In the last assembly at our Sixth and Spring Street School, the Speakers, in a very effective "Farewell Program", bade goodbye to the old school.

The annual Speaker Dinner was held on April 7th, in our new school. The cafeteria was transformed into an old-fashioned garden fenced with rose-covered lattice work, and the entrance was through a large rustic gate with wisteria twined on it. Peach trees blossomed in every corner, and ivory and green tapers, banked with ferns and jonquils were on every table. Esther Jackson was toastmistress, while Eleanor Binford, Carmen Mertz, Juel Kenney, Kathleen Shrader, and Genevra Elliott gave toasts. Mary Stein sang a solo and two Freshmen gracefully danced a minuet.

April 24th was "inspection day" for the new school. Everyone was invited to come at any time during the day, inspect the new school, and see us at work. The Speakers were the Reception Committee. Every visitor was cordially received and conducted about the building by one of the girls.

For the Seniors' last assembly, May 17th, the Speakers had Harry Brown and Earl Edwards to entertain us. These two young men are among the most popular entertainers of the three Falls Cities. They made the last assembly very enjoyable.

Just to end the year right, the Speakers planned to spend the week following the close of school at Camp Jo, near Sellersburg.

PURPOSE

To promote an interest in science.

ACTIVITIES

Regular meetings were held each week in our critic's room. At these meetings talks were given on subjects of scientific interest, followed by discussion.

With the help of our critic, Mr. Cantwell, our party, which was in the nature of a banquet, was a huge social success.

Commercial Club

DISTRICT COMMERCIAL CONTEST

Students of the Commercial Department participated in the District Commercial Contest at Madison on Saturday, April 21, 1928, and scored victories in each of the three events entered.

The entries and their ratings follow:

Beginning Shorthand Team, First Place: Mae Markert, first individual award; Gertrude Weller, third individual award; Lois Hedges.

Novice A Typing Team, First Place: Carmen Mertz, first individual award; Gertrude Weller, second individual award; Margaret Morris.

Bookkeeping Team, Second Place: William Dickman, first individual award; Bernard Bettman; Helen Terry.

Seven-Up

The purpose of the Seven-Up is to establish an annual scholarship. The past year besides giving the scholarship the club gave $25.00 to help purchase an electric score-board and gave $75.00 to a fund to send the Commercial team to the State Contest.

The club wishes to take this opportunity to thank the students for their patronage, and to tell them that they are hoping to serve them in the future.

Mixed Glee Club

"Music is the universal language of mankind."—Longfellow.

The Mixed Glee Club was established in the fall of 1925, with Mrs. Stokes as director, for the opportunity of joyous singing. Some charter members still remain with us. It has been a pleasure and a benefit to practice three and four part choruses, and a satisfaction to render them at various public gatherings. This club has been conspicuous for its representation in the various operetta casts and choruses.

Falling Run Anthology

CAROLYN BAREFORD
Alas! Here I lie.
I got married, and learning that
My husband admired slender women,
I lived on orange juice
Till it failed to sustain me.

ROBERT CLAYTON
My greatest ambition was to become a soldier.
I joined the army, and we sailed for Europe.
I was shot hunting for eggs
In machine gun nests.

LUCILE KELLER
My husband objected to my using his razor for a can opener.
The brute struck me with a croquet mallet.

LINMUR DOUGLAS
I was racing down the road in my old Dodge Touring.
I was neck and neck with the Limited.
We tied at the crossing.

EVAN McLINN
I was of Scotch descent.
A series of tag days lasted for two whole weeks.
Afraid to go out,
I died of starvation.

VERNER LAMB
The summer night was bewitching.
In a hammock, my girl and I.
Romance called.
I died of painter's colic.

KATHERINE BOWLING
I heard that horse shoes bring good luck.
I started on a search.
I found one, but I must have tickled his hoof.

HENRY DREYER
I had a burning aspiration
To be a street cleaner.
But I failed to pass the intelligence test
Required to be one.
Disappointed, I pined away.

HUGH McCANDLESS
I lived in the West.
We had a wild broncho.
I had heard of Paul Revere.
My race is run.

LOUIS PFEFFER
I saw this man get rich.
I saw that man get rich.
I thought I'd try.
I used one too many cakes of yeast.

LUCILLE HENNIES
I wished to be thin.
I went to a beauty shop to take a steam bath.
The beauty specialist had a sweetheart.
I am thin and cold.

ALMA BEAL
I wanted to be a flapper.
I had my hair bobbed, my nails manicured,
My eyebrows arched.
But alas, I was thwarted.
I was smothered by a mud pack.

EVELYN KAHOE
I'm here because I'm here.
I have no place else to go.

RAYMOND MEYER
May all who read take warning.
Beware of church weddings.
On my way down the aisle, tripping on my shoestrings,
I fell, striking my head against the arm of Deacon Zenor's pew.
I never reached the altar.

NELVIN CLAYCOMB
I died nobly at my post,
Defending the stand against the onrushing crowd at the game.
As I was being slowly crushed to death,
I waved an "Oh Henry" above my head
And gasped "All for the score-board."

HELEN MATTHEWS
One day I went blackberrying.
I was tickled to death.
And the chiggers were too.

ELIZABETH BOSIER
My ambition was to play Juliet.
The night of my first performance,
I leaned over the rail to touch Romeo's hair.
The rail wasn't strong enough.
The world lost a great actress.

HARRIET MAIN
I believed that the moon could be reached,
And I tried to do it on a rocket.
I was coming to earth above White Cloud,
When an angry farmer shot me for a hawk.

LAVERNE ENDICOTT
I was on a subway train.
It was warm and so I raised a window.
Someone yelled "Look out."
I did.

RICHARD ARNOLD
I was spinning along on my bicycle.
At the top of Mooresville Hill, I met a cow.
The cow and I went through the Pearly Gate together.

EVELYN BLACKISTON
I who lie under this green mound
Mistook a Roman candle for a wiener.

ROSCOE SHELTON
After graduating, I decided to be a movie shiek.
But I spent my life trying to earn money
To get to Hollywood.

Falling Run Anthology

MARTHA WELCH
I was the High School wit.
Later, on the stage, my wise-cracks brought me fame and fortune.
But I died of a broken heart:
My husband had no sense of humor.

TOM CULLEN
My name used to be in the papers daily
As having played somewhere.
Now here I am in Falling Run Cemetery.
No one cares now where I played.

MARTHA CLIPP
One night in my beauty shop,
I lighted a match to look for the leaking gas.
The world is now bereft of my daintiness and jabbering.

CARMEN MERTZ
After proving women were superior to men
At the New Albany High School,
I proved it again in 1935 by beating
Four men in the race for governorship.
Now I go to prove it to St. Peter.

LEONARD MILLER
I bought every hair dressing I saw advertised,
But not one of them had any effect.
I died of sunstroke.

CLARA LEE MONTGOMERY
I tried to reach heaven by air plane.
Alack! Now I am six feet
Farther from the Land of the Blessed.

ELIZABETH STERRETT
I joined the "Dorothy Reeve's Musical Stock Co."
I stumped my toe and took a fatal fall
into the bass fiddle,
While doing the Varsity Drag.

MARTHA BARNES
I got monograms from every school in the three fall cities.
And died under the name of "The Walking Alphabet."

AGNES COURTE
Up—up—up—down—down—down
From class to class in the new school I went.
The day after commencement, I died of an acute case of charley horse.

MINNA BENSINGER
I now realize that two can't live as cheap
as one.
I died of starvation.

ELEANOR BINFORD
I got muddled up.
I saw one creditor as I was crossing the street.
I started back, saw another on the other side.
I stopped. The machine didn't.

RALPH CONNER
Here I lie, deep in my grave.
I was talked to death by my wife.

BEN LIPNIK
I became the leader of a brass band.
One day while leading my "Tin Pan
Parade down Spring Street,
The Ekin Avenue car ran wild.

EVELYN ALDRICH
I was the joy and pride of the family.
I attended three different art schools.
I was able to draw everything but a salary,
And died in a cobwebby garret.

WILLIAM HALE
I would have died another Sir Galahad.
But a female with hair like flax and a cupid's bow
Led me trembling to the altar.

JOE DEEM
I was a star in the high school,
My name always in the head lines;
But, alas, after that commencement night,
I had to die to get a write-up.

JANE POTTS
Here lie the bones of me, Jane Potts.
I talked continually, incessantly, unin-termittently.
I died of perpetual motion.

HERBERT MILLER
I broke my back,
Reaching for the inkwell
In the bookkeeping room.

ANN BRAZIL
Here I lie, cold and still.
I stepped in a man-hole
While reading a safety poster.

AMY KING
I took a correspondence course in physical culture.
One night after practicing a new twist,
I stayed in a knot, and died
In the shape of a pretzel.

ORPHA TYLER
I was a quiet little girl in school.
I always liked to sew.
One day I took a stitch in my side.
The doctors had a ripping time.

MARVIN WOLFORD
Those afraid to lie with me, smoke "Old Golds"
Not a coff-in a carload.

ELSIE GARMAN
I won Olympic diving honors,
And then fell out of bed one night and broke my neck.

PAULINE BUCHANAN
I forgot, and walked across Spring Street without stooping.
My head touched the trolley wire
And my feet touched the rail.

Falling Run Anthology

VIRGINIA COLLINS
My song is ended.

VIRGINIA DEAL
Not being able to swim,
I tried to keep afloat on ivory soap.
The soap dissolved.

GERTRUDE BUSCH
My soul's desire was to die honorably;
But alas! I was run down by a Ford.

VIRGINIA ZELLER
I was a clerk in the dress department
Till I told a 269 pound woman
To go to the Tent and Awning Co.
For a dress.

LILLIE McDONALD
I was baking an angel-food cake.
The stove blew up.
Now I'm baking devils' food.

LEE McMANUS
I was the star of the Olympic team,
The world's champion hurdler.
I broke my back stepping over an ant hill.

RUTH DONAHUE
My heart failed me
When I fell off that cliff.
I always suffered with nightmares
After eating onions and ice cream.

MILDRED MOSS
I burned with ambition, with aspirations,
But penury repressed my noble race.
I spent my life putting holes in doughnuts.

CATHERINE CHENEY
I sat down on my false teeth
And died of hydrophobia.

GLADYS GREEN
Hear ye! hear ye! fellow vegetarians,
I took the advice of my physicians
And eliminated beef, pork, fish and fowl
From my diet.
But my course was not vigorous enough.
I died from eating animal crackers.

EDITH OUEBBEMAN
May Markert dared me to jump off
The new high school building
With an umbrella.
I took the dare.

MARTHA McNAMARA
I was an officer in the Salvation Army.
I died in service.
I burst a blood vessel,
Singing hymns one Saturday night.

EVELYN ROWE
I was nervous anyhow and
He sat back of me
Chewing and popping gum like a rock-crusher,
I beat him to death with my umbrella.
I was hanged for murder.

RALPH BRASHER
I took the prize in all the baby shows.
Every organ in me was sound and healthy.
My ancestors all lived to a ripe old age.
But, alack! I died of curiosity
Trying to read what I had written.

THELMA MOON
I was the first woman to jump off the Leaning Tower of Pisa.
I jumped from the wrong side.

CHESTER MEYER
I was playing Santa Claus for the children when
My wife built a fire in the fireplace.

SHIRLEY ZENOR
I was the one who wrote all these verses.
Here rests what was left after I was detected.

MARY RUTH RENN
I had conquered solid geometry,
I was a wizard in physics.
But died a lunatic
After trying to work the combination of Locker one hundred and forty-seven.

ROMAINE WILLIAMS
My hair was long enough to put up.
I wrung my neck trying to see
What it looked like in the back.

FRED MICHELL
I, "The Human Fly", known on two continents,
Broke my neck when I slipped off the sidewalk.

MILDRED JOHNSON
One night as I was grinding the giblets
For the Saturday rush,
I became dizzy and fell in the grinder.
I was sold the next day at 20c a pound.

IVA STONE
I was a missionary in darkest Africa.
While I was teaching my class to sing
"The Table Is Spread",
A band of cannibals surprised us
And devoured me and my hymn book.

MYERS MURPHY
I now know that I should not
Have taken my red flannels off before Easter.

LLOYD LEMMON
I was telling of my experience
In killing a man-eating lion,
When a ferocious mouse
Ran up my pants-leg and scared me to death.

NELLIE WRIGHT
I was a statistician.
I almost wept with joy on finding
That New York had the largest population.
Later I was crushed on a crowded subway.

Falling Run Anthology

SHIRLEY BOVINET
I took Professor Stretch's daily dozen
Until I was seven feet five.
I hung myself on a clothes line in the dark one night.

FLORENCE LOSSON
My ambition was to swim the Atlantic Ocean.
I tried, and was within one-half mile of the Scandinavian shore.
When a shark punctured my waterwing.

LEOLA WOOD
Bookkeeping was my favorite study.
I was improving rapidly.
I suppose I over-studied.
The school sent me to Madison.

ROBERT LAMKE
I was leaning over tying my shoe string.
She struck me on the back.
I cut my throat on the crease of my trousers.

MARGARET WELCH
I was the writer of the "How to Succeed" column
For the Evening News,
But could not make a living
And was forced to exterminate myself.

JO GIBBS
I was out for football.
Mr. Gelbach told me to tackle the dummy.
I grabbed the coach around the ankles.

MAX KRON
We were having football scrimmage.
They told me to "Kick Off".

ESTHER JACKSON
The squawk of a chicken.
A farmer in his night shirt.
Me full of buck-shot.

CELINE HARRIS
My first period class was in the study hall,
My second in Sewing,
My third in the music room.
I died of athletic heart.

LUCILLE HAYES
I leaned over the drinking fountain.
I pushed the button.
I died of pneumonia from the drenching
I got.

DOROTHY SHACKLETT
I came to a bridge on the road
And pulled over to let it pass.

FLORENCE WOLFE
I had just traded in my horse and buggy
On a new gas-buggy.
As I neared a railroad, I yelled "Whoa".

MAURICE EICHOLZ
I was a sailing Romeo.
I had a girl in every port.
I died of the writer's cramp.

MARGARET MORRIS
I was so intellectual
I contracted Bright's disease, and died.

BOB McINTOSH
It was my first time away from home.
We went to the State Tourney
In Bozo Moreman's Overland Touring.
The engine blew up at Sellersburg.

JAMES BLYTHE
I, James Blythe, lie under this grassy blanket.
I was a proud athlete.
Women chased after me all my life.
But now I'm safe from the crowd.

PAUL BOWDEN
I'd have been as great as Mark Twain,
But for my fatal charm.
Xanthippe Smith, the rich widow, wooed me.
I married her and fed her eight children.
Then I had no time to write. It was all over.
I died of pneumonia after doing the family washing.

MAE LOIS WILCOX
I, who lie in this wooden kimona,
Was the fat lady of a circus.
They forced me to eat
One too many custard pies.

JACK DeVORE
Because of my ability to argue, I became a Congressman.
I choked to death trying to get the last word
Over a feminine opponent.

WILDA LANDIS
I was the photographer for the New York
Sun.
One day as I was taking the picture of Miss America,
A fly settled on her nose.
It looked like a wart.
She was brawnier than I.

BERNARD LOEBIG
One night when I was singing
At the Firemen's Benefit,
Someone yelled "Gimme a gun."
They gave him the gun.

LILLIAN SARLES
I tried "Reducing in Ten Lessons."
I practiced in my sleep.
While rolling, I came to the head of the stairs.

LAURA JEAN LIBBEY
I tried horseback riding.
Three frisky P. U. P. S. frightened my horse.
I looked like a scarecrow on the barbed wire fence
When the coroner arrived.

Falling Run Anthology

PALMER BEERS
I ate a piece of a cake my wife baked.
Then I went in swimming and sank.

SLOAN MARSH
I was the guy with a great big mouth.
I used it at all the games.
I chocked to death on a hat and coat
That somebody dropped from the balcony.

ALBERTA GREEN
They had a camera pointed at me.
Someone yelled, "Shoot!"
I haven't yet been able to decide whether
They shot or I died of fright.

THELMA SHELTON
We met. Here I lie no longer troubled by traffic regulations.

HELEN TERRY
My desire was to be a famous ghost story writer.
I never quite finished my first ghost story, however.
My gruesome ghost scared me to death.

CAROLYN BUSSEY
I who lie beneath this sod quite forgotten,
In N. A. H. S. was renowned for my drawing.
After giving twenty years of my life to art,
I caught my foot in my easel and fell down the attic stairs.

CECIL BURCH
I made my keep as a vaudeville performer
I opened handcuffs and locks and solved insolvable puzzles.
I died insane after trying to take the pins out of a new shirt.

KATHRYN RADY
Lindberg was my hero.
I took off at Johnson's Field near Daisy Lane.
And landed nose-dive fashion in the Dye Waters.

CHARLES LARMORE
I was coaxed to do it; it was against my will;
I'll never forgive myself; I didnt want to marry.
She was a large, athletic woman with red hair and big feet.
I died of a broken heart and other injuries.

RICHARD LEWIS
I had always worried about dying.
I felt sorry for the grave diggers.
I had to buy a family lot
And have my grave dug diagonally across.

DOROTHY JACKSON
My motto was "stop when the whistle blows".
I was washing windows outside on the twenty-fourth floor.
The whistle blew.
I let loose.

RICHARD CLARK
In the movies I was a daredevil.
I dived off cliffs and fell head long
From skyscrapers.
I was killed.
When the street car strap to which I was holding broke.

HELEN LEPTIC
I was a great traveler.
While walking through the streets of Madrid,
I carried a red parasol.

MARGARET SPATIG
For many years I was a bareback rider
And known throughout the country.
I met my death when
I fell off a merry-go-round.

KENNETH GRAVES
I was a sword swallower.
My reputation came to a miserable end
While eating peas with my knife.

JAMES STUCKER
As a detective I was eclipsed only by the great Sherlock Holmes.
I ferreted out many crimes of murder and theft.
I met my end from fracture of the skull.
Tracking a collar button under the bureau.

MAY MARKERT
My ambition was to travel
And to taste French foods.
I realized the ambition.
I died from eating paris green.

KATHERINE SCOTT
I almost wrote a novel.
I had still two chapters to write when
I drowned myself in tears over
The tragic love affairs of my heroine.

ALMA GRAYBROOK
I decided to make my fortune on a farm
By raising first-class mushrooms.
Moral: "Never sample your own products."

LEONA GEISER
I worked in a match factory.
My clothes were always filled with phosphorus.
One night while walking home in the dark,
I was mistaken for the "Chief of the Fallen Angels".
And shot by a superstitious negro.

EARL FRIEND
I starred in every sport in school.
At the age of tweny-three, I was a tough guy; but
I over-exerted myself playing tiddlewinks

SADIE RUNDELS
I struggled hard, but I could not master the "Jew's Hop."
I slid into eternity.

You little freshies of the year
That poorly satisfy our eyes
More by your number, we do fear,
Than by your wisdom wise,
What are you when Soph'mores rise?

You peppy Sophs, who excel in yells
That are so cheerful and so gay,
Conspiring against assembly bells
With your yea! Yea! YEA! What's your praise
When the Juniors their voice shall raise?

You Juniors, who have grown so tall,
Who side by side with Seniors roam
And proudly strut around the hall
As if the school were all your own,
What are you when Seniors are shown?

So when the Seniors shall be seen
In form and beauty of their mind,
By virtue first, then choice, our theme,
Tell me if they were not designed
The eclipse and glory of their kind?

—Jean Deal.

The friends and classmates we have known so long
Are leaving us for life in other spheres.
We, who remain, are truly wishing that
Success will crown their work through future years.

They leave behind them acts of brawn and brain,
Fond memories will linger in our hearts
Of deeds well done, of honors taken here
As they, each one, have played their little parts.

So hail to the class of '28!
To the Seniors who are leaving us now,
To you who we hope will conquer the world,
The class of '29 makes its bow.

—Lois Hedges.

HAIL AND FAREWELL

Hail and farewell! dear friends and school,
Towards the shelf we're hastening on.
We trust your ardour ne'er will cool
And that you'll carry on.

—Mildred Moss.

Football

The Bulldog gridders of 1927 enjoyed one of the most successful seasons that any N. A. H. S. football team ever experienced. The team won five games, lost two, and was held to a 6-6 tie by Jeffersonville on Thanksgiving Day. The Red and Black warriors held victories over Bloomington, St. Mary's College, Cathedral of Indianapolis, Jasonville, Jeffersonville once; they lost to Male and St. Xavier. The Bulldogs should be given credit for defeating such teams as Cathedral and Jasonville who were regarded as two of the best teams in the state. The team piled up 113 points to their opponents' 79 during the season's play.

We lost the first game to Male who outweighed the Pups several pounds per man. It was a good game of football, however, even though the weather was more suited for baseball than for the gridiron sport. The team then won five straight games without suffering its own goal to be crossed. Had it not been for the unexpected touchdown executed on Turkey Day by Kehrt, Jeff half-back, the Bulldogs could have boasted a goal line uncrossed by any Indiana team. On this particular day, the game was fought on a water-soaked gridiron, upon which the breaks of the game sometimes decide the issue. Jeff had the break and lost no time taking advantage of it. The final score was 6-6. We had previously trounced the Red Devils at Pennsylvania Field to the tune of 27-0.

The Bulldogs were fortunate in having eleven letter men back to start off the season's play. They were Captain Stocksdale, Deem, Kron, Friend, Michell, Penick, Goss, Meyer, Miller, Peters, and Hanen. Those awarded N's for their seasons work, in addition to the 1926 lettermen, were Binford, Groh, Wolford, Clark, Cullen, Moreman, Burch, Duggins, Hock, Blythe, Hobson, McManus, McIntosh, and Speth. Joe Binford was elected to captain next year's team, and we extend our heartiest wishes to him for a successful team next year.

Basketball

The 1927-28 basketball season was a great one even though the team itself failed to win as many games as we would have liked.

The team had a rather tough-luck year as far as the results of the games were concerned. The Bulldogs finished the season with eight victories and thirteen defeats, including the tournament games. The team was greatly handicapped by the lack of that stuff called size. They had size alright, but it was not the large variety. The boys were out-weighed in almost every game and should be given credit for their pluck and fight against heavier opponents. The lack of a center tall enough to get an occasional tip-off also hurt. Let us pray for bigger boys in the future. There are ups and downs in everything, and this happened to be a down year. We hope for better luck next season.

The games were all well patronized, and on two or three occasions the gym was completely packed. The townspeople are just waking up to the fact that basketball is an interesting game to watch.

We had our biggest thrill of the year on Dedication night when the team came through with a 42-40 victory over Jeff. It was certainly a wonderful night to remember. Mr. A. L. Trester, the Czar of Indiana High School basketball, honored us with his presence that night and gave an inspiring talk. He evidently was well pleased with the gym and fans, as we were awarded both the sectional and regional tournaments, something brand new to New Albany.

The team piled up a total of 673 points to opponents 639, averaging 33 points a game to opponents 30.

The Bulldogs started off wonderfully in the sectional tourney by defeating Borden and Henryville by top-heavy scores, but lost to Salem in the semi-finals to the tune of 31-16. Salem had a very good team this year and deserved their winning of the tourney. Bedford won the regional by simply outclassing all opposition.

Next year is another year and with the playhall built and good basketball coming on, we hope for another successful year.

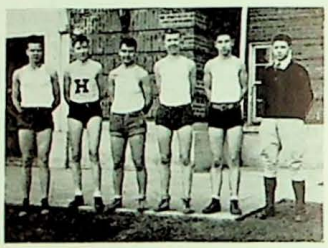
First and Second Squads

Class Basketball

Coach Kraemer found time this year, aside from his work with the basketball team, to organize class basketball. Those boys who were not able to play with the varsity or second team were eligible to play in this league.

The Senior, Junior, Sophomore, and Freshman classes were each represented by a team. Games were played every Friday afternoon in the gym and each class backed its own team. The games were, for the most part, very closely contested and the winner was not decided until the last game had been played. The Senior team won out, followed by the Freshmen, Juniors, and the Sophomores in the order named.

The Senior team was made up of Captain Clark, McLinn, Zenor, Marsh, McManus, Groh, Shelton, Miller, Douglas, Sillings, and Murr. Mr. Cantwell served as coach. This team holds a victory over the High School Pups and hung up a nice record in the league play. A silver loving cup was presented to the team to be kept by the Senior Class for the ensuing year. This cup will be in the possession of the winning team each year.



The Juniors were Captain Landis, Kleinstiver, Beck, Hobson, Biggs, Dowell, and M. Miller. This team was a hard bunch to beat and always gave the opposition a run for its money.

The Sophomores to represent that class were Captain Spider Tower, Utrecht, Schaerrer, Schaeffer, Anshutz, Kelso, and Schecter. This team was not so plentifully blessed with good material but under the leadership of Captain Tower, it pulled through very well.

The Freshman team had the following players on its roll: Captain Willcox, Zoeller, Brown, Cureton, Sterrett, and Moreman. Mr. Terrell coached the team. The Freshman team was made up of good material which can be used on the high school teams next year.

Inter-class basketball was very popular its first year and we hope that there will be more of it in the seasons to come.

Track

The track team is working well this year under the tutelage of Coach Gribble. A quarter-mile track has been built around the football field together with jumping and pole-vaulting pits.

At the time of this writing, the New Albany cindermen have participated in one meet; that the triangular contest in which Salem, Speeds, and New Albany figured. The Salem warriors chalked up a total of 47 points to take off first honors. New Albany came in second. The New Albany boys who scored points in this meet are: Eblesisor, first in high-jump and mile-run and third in pole-vault; Clark, first in high hurdles and first in the low hurdles; Meyer, first in half-mile run; and Dreyer, second in 440-yard dash. Ebelsisor led the individual scorers for the day with a total of eleven points.

The squad has been working out daily and hopes to make a mark in the coming sectional meet.

The events and those participating in them:
High jump—Eblesisor and Zenor.
Broad jump—Clark, Dowell, and Blythe.
High hurdles—Clark, Wilcox, and Groh.
Pole Vault—Ebelsisor and Meyer.
220-yard dash—Blythe and Dowell.
100-yard dash—Dowell, Blythe and Dreyer.
440-yard dash—Dreyer and Briscoe.
Half-mile run—Meyer and Stalker.
Mile run—Eblesisor and McAfee.
Shot put—Stocksdale, Peters and Dreyer.
Half-mile relay—Blythe, Dowell, Clark, and Dreyer.

The letter-men on the team this year are Meyer, Ebelsisor, and Clark. Dick Clark was elected Captain.

Baseball

The baseball squad has been going pretty fairly this season, the team having won its first three games at time of this writing.

Five letter-men are back this year and Coach Kraemer has built a fairly smooth-working team around them. The letter-men are Captain Moreman, McIntosh, Kron, Stocksdale, and McManus. A few substitutes from last year's squad and some promising new players have fitted well into the team play.

The Bulldogs won their first game from Henryville by a score of 12-1. Kron's pitching featured this game. He struck out seventeen of the twenty-one batters who faced him and pitched a no-hit game, which is certainly no mean achievement. The next game was taken from Pekin to the tune of 14-4. Kron's pitching and the team's heavy batting were responsible for this victory. In the third game, the Bulldogs defeated Speeds, 7-5. McIntosh hurled this time. Wolford worked behind the plate in all three contests.

The New Albany team did not enter the Falls City Baseball League this year since Coach Kraemer could not get his team whipped into shape by the opening day of the league play. The squad was forced to practice at Glenwood Park again this year as the athletic field is being sowed in grass. Next year, the baseball team expects to enjoy the use of our own field.

Games are on tap later on this season with Seymour, Jeff, St. Mary's, and probably with St. X., Male or Manual. The baseballers are confident of bringing home the bacon in a good many of these conflicts.

The team as it is lined up now: Kron, McIntosh, and Landis, pitchers; Wolford and Smith, catchers; Moreman, McManus, Brown, Zoeller, Ferrell, and Beers, infielders; Stocksdale, Schuble, Miller, Gonder, and Flanigan, outfielders.

Jokes

Miss Rusk (in history class)—The Indians took their last stand under Sitting Bull.

Earl Friend—Say, Boze, do you know why all Jews are not buried in a Jewish graveyard?
Bozo Moreman—I'll bite. Why?
Earl Friend—Because they are not all dead.

Lee Mac—Why does a hen lay an egg?
Carver—I don't know.
Lee Mac—Because she doesn't want to drop it.

Max—Mr. Kahl, what's the difference between a lemon and a horse?
Mr. Kahl—I don't know.
Max—I'd sure hate to send you to the grocery to get a dozen lemons.

Leo—What kind of a car have you?
Davis—I got a wreck.
Leo—A wreck?
Davis—Yeah, every time I park it a dozen people come up and ask me if I've reported the accident yet.

Ben—Do you play the piano by ear or by note?
Sloan—I get it down and play it by brute strength.

Evan—Strange that medicine didn't help me.
Ralph—Did you follow the directions?
Evan—Yes, it said to keep the bottle tightly corked.

Helen—Did you hear about Jack DeVore stepping in front of a train?
Clipp—Was he killed?
Helen—No, the train was backing up.

Roy Sillings—I can tell you something that will turn your head.
Roger Murr—What?
Roy Sillings—Your neck.

C. Cheney—Jane Potts bet me fifty cents she'd have a date with a football man
M. McNamara—Well, did she?
C. Cheney—Yes, and she gets the half back.

Earl Friend—I'll beat you to a jelly.
J. Lepping—What flavor?

Edwin Burd—Which is the quickest way to get a book out of the library?
Miss Wells—Multiply the area of the base by the altitude and you will get the volume immediately.

Jokes

Helen—Where did you get that horrible necktie?
Roy Downs—The laughs on you. You gave it to me last Christmas.

Miss Watson—When was Rome built?
Student—At night.
Miss Watson—Where did you get that answer?
Student—Well, Rome was not built in a day.

Miss Rusk—What are your views on suicide?
Pauline—I think it is dangerous.

Kron—I'd certainly like to play football in Heaven.
Deem—Well, I wouldn't.
Kron—Why not.
Deem—If you are dropped from the team, you'd have too far to fall.

Stalker—What did you get on your birthday?
Joe Binford—A year older.

Stump—Do you know how to make a peach cordial?
Juel—Sure. Send her a box of candy.

Miss Groh—Why was Daniel forced to enter the lions den?
Marvin Wolford—Why he'd spoiled a whole film if he hadn't.

Shirley Zenor—It is a very sad thought, gentle readers, that your grandchildren, eight years from now, will be reading these same jokes.

Athletic Personals

We recommend that Jimmy Blythe wear roller skates on his back, knees, elbows, and chin the next time he plays basketball against Seymour. James says they are so rough.

How about the facial expressions Dick Clark makes when he goes over the high hurdles?

Have you heard Egg Landis tell how he got a hit during the baseball season?

The credit for building our new cinder track goes to those boys who decided to attend the track meet at Scottsburg this spring. Hats off to them!

Athletic Personals

Ask Coach Kraemer what name he gave to those boys who sat in the last row of the football bus bound for Jasonville.

You should have seen Blackie Miller taking the 260-pound tackle out of the play at Jasonville. Blackie said the big boy grunted like some of his (Blackie's) pigs that he has running around in his back yard.

Joe Binford promises us that he will be six and a half feet tall by next basketball season. That's the right spirit, Joe.

Miss Board has been bringing her gym classes out on the track. Look out, you tracksters, for next year.

Can you imagine—
Dick Clark as a mute?
Ben Lipnik playing "Liebestraum" on the violin?
Max Kron with his hair slicked down?
Carmen Mertz acknowledging that man is superior to woman?
Margaret Morris getting an E?
Evelyn Aldrich as cheer-leader?
Martha Clipp and Pauline Buchanan with their altitudes reversed?
The High School without Joe Deem and Romaine Williams?
Sloan Marsh worrying about his grades?
"Boze" Moreman passing in all his subjects?
Joe Gibbs full of pep?
Earl Friend or Elizabeth Bosier being commended for their quiet, restrained manners?
Richard Lewis in a ballet costume?
Wilda Landis without her camera?
Jim Blythe as a woman hater?
Esther Jackson alone?
Fritz Michell playing jacks?
A dance without Jack DeVore?
May Markert strolling?
Henry Dreyer with black hair?
Carolyn Bareford refusing Ham?
Evan McLinn asking no questions?
Robert Lamke doing a Hoe-down?
William Hale with patent-leather hair?
Lucile Keller driving 10 miles an hour?

A REBUS

On one of the roads not a from the line is a building not built of or -stone, but just the kind of stone. It isn't near a . No with lined banks, runs beside it and no -infested surrounds it. There is no and hearly there to a lovely lady under the ; but the builds its nest there.

The building is a for joy, and there will never be the taste of a to mar this joy, we hope. For s and days we have wailed for it and at last it is here.

The interior is no less beautiful than the exterior. In the auditorium are s and rows of shining chairs. The kitchen is another source of delight for there are shelves of shining and pans. In the typing room there are of paper for those who do it to practice on. There are no creaky s in the floor, and in each room there is a telephone to with. This is not the home of a wealthy but it is N.A.H.S.

The New Albany Clearing House Association is an organization composed of the Banks and Trust Companies whose names appear on the bottom of this advertisement.

One of the objects of the Clearing House Association is the fostering and assisting of sound and conservative methods of banking.

Other objects of the Association are: The upbuilding of our Community by encouraging thrift and the habit of saving among our young people: aiding our citizens to own their own homes through mortgage loans: assisting worthy mercantile and industrial enterprises in maintaining and extending their businesses: in all things making ours a bigger and better community to live and to do business in.

To the Pupils of our Public Schools, the Clearing House Banks extend cordial invitations to open savings or checking accounts with any member Bank most convenient or desirable.

No matter how modest in size is your account. You may start with a dollar if you wish.

If you want funds for a college education, start an account to get them. We add 4% interest to your deposits compounded semi-annually.

Our banking hours are convenient.
You will be treated with courtesy.

PHARMACY'S APPEAL

High School graduates, who are casting about for a life's work, will find in Pharmacy a blend of pure science, pure business and historical romance that has a gripping appeal.

Pharmacy needs young men and women of high character, high ideals and fidelity to principle.

A postal card will bring an annual announcement outlining courses of instruction.

GLASSES ARE A SIGN OF INTELLIGENCE

—not of old age

The old-fashioned idea that glasses add age to a person's looks is an entirely erroneous one. People of all ages now realize the importance of keeping young by preserving their eyesight with properly fitted glasses—which are constantly performing the unusual in relieving and correcting defective vision and improving the health of wearers.
